

telePROTECT U971

The discreet alarm transmitter for your personal security.

With the telePROTECT U971, we have packed effective and dependable alarm power into the size of a wristwatch. At any time and in any situation, with the U971 you always know that help is close at hand. The U971 is the small alarm transmitter that provides enormous personal security.

Discreet and versatile

"Discretion is the better part of valour." The telePROTECT U971 personal alarm transmitter, due to its size and versatility, is truly discreet. You can carry it in your pocket, clip it onto your clothing, wear it as a wristwatch or necklace, attach it to a key ring or permanently fix it under a table, counter or in plainly visible positions. Now that is versatility for you!

Two types of alarm

Using the red button, you can transmit two types of alarm from the telePROTECT U971. One push activates an alarm that is transmitted to predefined personnel who can then take whatever action is needed. Pressing twice on the button activates the emergency alarm. When an alarm is transmitted, the LED starts to flash. The alarm button is highly resistant to water damage, having withstood stringent water tests.

Features

telePROTECT U971

Small, wristwatch-sized transmitter: only 46.4 mm in diameter

Operates on the UHF-band

Clip included; easily attached to clothing

Permanent fixed positioning possible

Multi-functional pushbutton

Programmable according to customer requirements

Waterproof according to IP65 classification

Automatic self-diagnosis during transmission; ensures optimum security

Flashing LED when alarm is transmitted

Long-life lithium battery

Lightweight: only 25 g including batteries

Accessories

Bracelet

The U971 is also available in a Medic version, especially designed for the healthcare sector.